

GED . . . Look At Me Now!

"I have a reading disability and never finished high school, so they gave me extra time to take the GED tests. My ABE teacher came to North Branch twice a week and helped me study for the GED."

"Now I'm enrolled in school and want to continue to be a LPN. I feel such a sense of accomplishment."

"My advice? Put your mind to it and don't let anything get in your way. It's a lot easier than you think!"

GED Graduate, May 2011*

A GED diploma is your stepping-stone toward college, a better career, and family-sustaining wages. After December 2013 the new test will be more difficult, more costly, and computer-based. There's even more good reason to do it now!
